Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day is here again,
And, like the day I spent so cold,
We must thank our Heavenly Father
For the blessings on us bestowed.

Every year there's something for which
To be very grateful and thankful to God
For a little added strength and food,
For cheering the paths that we've trod.

This year above all other years
Our gratitude should be expressed
To God who in his wisdom saw fit
To bring peace to the hearts distressed.

We thank Him that peace once more reign
In our country, and those so far away.
We thank Him that our brave boys soon
Will return to the U. S. A.

Let not one on this day forget
To offer to God a prayer
Of thanksfulness for mercy to us,
And for the boys "Over There."

HELEN A. MORRIS.

Casualties Among Our Boys

Samuel L. Loomis is reported as having been wounded in October. He is from Pamplin and the degree of his wounds has not been established.

Private Wm. Flood, of Enonville, died of disease.

Private Willie Motley, of Sheppards, is wounded.

G. C. Stroberger, Evergreen, killed in action. He was the step-son of Mr. J. W. Miller.

Nathaniel Stanley, Tower Hill, died of wounds. He is a Buckingham county boy and was reared on the headwaters of Slate River.

Ashby Martin, slightly wounded. Son of Walker Martin, of Stonewall district.

It is reported that Lieutenant Walter Rice was wounded in action in France and is now in hospital. Walter was among our first boys to volunteer for overseas service.

Juan R Anderson, of Andersonville, Buckingham county, is reported wounded in France.

BEASLEY BOYS

To give four sons as volunteers to the army and to have two of them killed in battle and another wounded is the sacrifice Mrs. Isabella Turnes of Hollywood, has made for her country. One was killed in July; another in October and the third was wounded in the same drive Mrs. Turnes received a war department dispatch Saturday advising her of the death of her son, DeWitt Beasley, who was killed November 10, the day before the armistice was signed.

Jerry Beasley, her second son, was wounded in the same battle, and her third son, J. R. Beasley, was killed in action in July.

Another son, Rev. Titus W. Beasley, volunteered for Y. M. C. A. service, and is now at home on a visit to his mother He has been doing work at our camps over here.

The three brothers were all volunteers from their home county.

These brothers are well known in Appomattox county where they were born and reared and have numerous friends and relatives.

One brother stayed at home to aid his elderly mother and step father. All of Appomattox mourns the loss of those heroes and their graves shall be kept green, and their remains shall rest in the soil of Appomattox

Korean Woman Status.

In Korea women occupy a place in society which has no parallel elsewhere in the Orient. They are both better and worse off than in China or India or Japan—better off because there are more fields open to them worse because they are overworked often ill-treated, and until recently were actually enslaved.

Borrowed $139,578,000

Washington, Nov 25.—Farmers have borrowed $139,578,000 from the twelve federal farm loan banks since their organization in March, 1917 In reporting this today the farm loan board announced that capital stock of the banks, originally subscribed mainly by the government, has increased from $9,000,000 to $15,975,000 through additional subscriptions by farm loan associations, and that bonds amounting to $140,122,600 have been issued

The farmers are making their payments promptly. The report shows only $86,000 in loans as overdue on October 31 Only $10,000 was as much as 30 days overdue, and delinquency occurred almost entirely in sections where there had been crop failure

Murdered Infant

Farmville, Va Nov 26—Bettie, Evans, colored, is in Prince Edward county jail awaiting indictment and trial for the confessed murder of her infant grandchild According to her own statement to the police, on the night of Novem ber 10, six days after the birth of the child she took the baby from its mother and carried it to the woods, where she buried it alive. The only explanation she makes is that she was worried about the nursing of the baby until she did not know what she was doing After her arrest by Special Officer T C Coleman the woman agreed to show the spot where she had buried the infant. According ly, Commonwealth's Attorney Watkins and Chief of Police Lipscomb accompanied her to the woods and there found the remains beneath the leaves and sticks.

Vera

On this Thanksgiving Day we should feel especially grateful and thankful for the peace which reigns once more over this fair land of ours. Let us be thankful that America has lost no more of her sons "over there;" that the bloody struggle is ended; that the Kaiser has no more power to cause lives to be lost; that we have squared our debt to France; and last, but not least, that our boys will soon be at home again, having won a glorious name for themselves, and fame that will last forever.

Miss Eva Harvey spent the week end with her home people here.

Mrs. Lee C Rhodes spent a few days in Lynchburg last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harvey have returned to their home in Amherst, after pleasant visits in the homes of Mrs. Mildred Lewis and Mrs. Thomas Harvey.

It is reported that Jerry Beasley of this place has been killed in action in France. If this be true he is the second boy of this family to give his life in humanity's cause. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved mother.

Mr. Thomas Harvey received last week news of the death of brother, S. M. Harvey, in Graham. His death was due to cancer.

Mr. and Mrs R. W. Abbitt were guests of Mrs. J. A. Harvey on last Sunday.

Mr. Ben Morgenson was in Lynchburg last week

Petty's Fork

Miss Mary Marshall is getting on very nicely with her school here.

There are yet a number of cases of "flu" in this neighborhood, but as yet it hasn't interfered with the progress of the school.

Mr. Henry T. White gave his sister, Mrs Nathan D Marshall, a very pleasant surprise when he came in unexpectedly on her Sunday evening. Twenty years had elapsed since he was in these parts. He was accompanied by his wife and little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Odor and little son, Mr and Mrs. Russel Harper and Miss Sue Odor were visitors in the home of Mr Robt. Martin or Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ford were in town on Monday.

John Elliott Marshall expects to leave Saturday for Blackstone, where he will accept a position in a garage.

We are very glad to welcome Miss Pearl Caldwell back as teacher of Woodson school.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover Marshall spent Sunday with the latter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey.

Best wishes to Times-Virginian and its readers

Practice These Rules and be Patriotic

Use cereals (meal, cereal breakfast food, etc.) freely, taking pains to prepare them with great care and to vary the kind used from day to day if necessary to keep people from tiring of them.

Remember that a quart of whole milk a day for each child, to be used as a beverage and in cookery, is not too much

Try to make the dishes served of such size that there will be enough to satisfy the appetite of the family and no unnecessary table and plate waste

Do not be above noticing whether anything usable is thrown away with the garbage, which always shows how thriftily food is used in a household.

Many inexpensive materials can be made attractive and the diet can be pleasantly varied by a wise use of different flavorings.

"Finicky" tastes in food often prevent the use of many valuable foods.

Good food habits are an important part of personal hygiene and thrift. Children get such habits by having suitable amount of suitable food served to them and then being expected to eat what is set before them

True economy and patriotism lie not only in buying wisely but also in making the fullest possible use of what is bought —Agr. Weekly News Letter.

Tuberculosis of hogs is closely associated with the same diseases as cattle, the reason being apparent when one considers the close relations of these two species of animals upon nearly every farm. Tuberculous cattle may scatter great numbers of the bacte bacilli with their excrement; cows that are tuberculous may produce contaminated milk that is subsequently fed to pigs; and carcasses of cattle that have died from tuberculosis are sometimes eaten by hogs Any of these conditions make the infection with tuberculosis of the hogs concerned a very easy matter.

Sources of Infection.

The feeding of hogs upon creamery refuse is also a very frequent source of infection. In this way the milk of a single cow with a tuberculous udder, if sent to a public creamery, may spread the disease to a number of hogs, and may also infect many farms that have never previously been contaminated with tuberculosis.

An equally dangerous source of infection is likewise observed in the methods which obtain among some of the small country slaughter houses. It is not unusual for these houses to get rid of their blood, intestines, viscera, and other inedible parts by feeding them to hogs, a herd of which is usually kept on the premises. This custom is pregnant with danger and serves to perpetuate the infectious principle of various contagious and parasitic diseases, particularly tuberculosis.

Hogs are also susceptible to tuberculous infection from affected persons and poultry, but these sources are undoubtedly of far less moment to the hog owner than those existing in a herd of tuberculous cattle.

Intestinal worms, lung worms, and stomach parasites also levy a burdensome tax upon the profits of hog raising. Absolute cleanliness will be found valuable in preventing and controlling these parasitic troubles, as well as the more serious diseases—hog cholera and tuberculosis.

Prevention of Disease.

In dealing with the diseases of hogs, preventive measures must be most relied upon. The animals must be given dry and well-ventilated quarters, which must be kept clean. Contrary to common belief, hogs have some habits which raise them above other domestic animals from the standpoint of cleanliness. For example, unless compelled to do so, a hog will not sleep in its own filth. If a part of the floor of the pen is raised and kept well bedded with straw, while the rest is not, all excreta will be left on the unbedded portion of the floor and the bed itself will be always clean.

In addition to cleanliness close attention should be given to the feed, so that nothing may be fed that will convey the germs of disease, especially tuberculosis, to the herd. If the hogs are fed milk in any form obtained from cows kept upon the same farm, the cows should be subjected to the tuberculin test. If they run with the dairy cattle of the farm a tuberculin test of all the cattle is none the less desirable. Animals dead from any disease should not be fed to the hogs until the meat has been made safe by cooking. Slim milk or refuse from a public creamery should not be fed to hogs until it has been thoroughly sterilized.

Feeding and drinking places should be clean and the water supply pure. Unless the origin is known to be uncontaminated and there has been no possibility of infection during its course, hogs should not be allowed access to any stream. Wallows should be drained out and kept filled up as much as possible. At least once a month the quarters should be disinfected with ahealing lime or a five per cent solution of crude carbolic acid. These precautions will be found valuable aids in the destruction of the various animal parasites, as well as a protection from some more serious troubles.

Advantage of Isolated Hog Houses.

The advantages of isolated hog houses, each accommodating a few hogs, rather than one large piggery for the entire herd, has been referred to previously. In districts where cholera is prevalent these are undoubtedly the best shelters. They make it more difficult to carry contagion to all animals in the herd, and the destruction of one of them in case of an outbreak does not entail a great expense. An added advantage is that they may be moved from place to place as needed. While more work is necessary in feeding, the convenience and safety from their use more than offset this disadvantage.

RED CROSS WORK AMONG REFUGEES

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF UNFORTUNATES IN ITALY WELL CARED FOR.

SCENE IN BOLOGNA STATION

Allen Enemy Females Put Under the Permit Rules—Great Plans for the Further Relief of Belgians and French.

From Committee on Public Information, Washington.—Now the hundreds or thousands of unfortunates driven from their homes in the course of the Austrian invasions of Italy were safely piloted to their destinations is related in a report received from an American Red Cross worker who has been looking after refugees in Bologna.

"An arrival of outgrants from Europe would give but a faint idea of an exodus of refugees," the report says. "Many of them are taking their first journey on a railway. In most cases it is impossible to make themselves understood. They pour into the Bologna station, dragging behind them movable packages, flasks, bottles, babies, sewing machines, hens (refugees have cats, dogs, canaries, bullfinches, pigeons, turtles—in fact, our rest home has seen every variety of winged and four-footed live stock). There they stand, stupefied by the noise and confusion of the arrival, utterly unable to move, while maybe their train is about to depart.

"However, we are there, looking for just such as they. The willing soldiers who are assigned to help the Red Cross take their difficult bundles, the huge sacks and a few of the babies. We take the eldest child, leading the way in a sort of decoy; and away we go, in and out of passenger trains, troop trains (no bridges or subways here), until we arrive at the train declared, hidden away behind all these trains, absolutely unattainable if not for our intervention.

"The train is jammed. They always are. Everyone on board cries to us there is not another inch of room. We pay no attention to them. Our fatest soldier enters a car and opens a passage for the family. When all the members and their endless belongings are squeezed in we go back and pick up another family."

Seven thousand men at Kelly field are soldiers or military necessities, last month saved articles which in other times would be regarded as junk, but which brought the government $3,200. Some of this refuse was old paper, old barrels, straw, bags, garbage, tin cans and metals.

In addition, great piles of old clothing, tents, motorcycle parts, airplane fittings, engine parts, rubber tires and the like were saved. Almost "every thing" is the slogan which is pursued by the accumulation and sale of thousands of materials at this and other camps.

The fruit and milk cans that the "kitchen police" smash every day, for example, bring considerable money to the government. They sell at $16 a ton. Kelly field ships them by the carload to copper refineries, where they are thrown into flames and serve to collect millions of molecules of copper that would otherwise be wasted away. These are then heated, the copper separated from the tin and marketed

How to conserve clothing and shoes, lumber and equipment is taught the soldier, who is not slow to see the advantage in dollars to himself as well as to the government. It is intended soon to open shoe repair shops and tailor shops at Kelly field to make the work of reclamation of still greater value to the government.

Midnight of October 5, 1918, has been fixed by the United States attorney general as the time when regulations prohibiting a one-mile prohibited area around federal or state forts, camps, arsenals, aircraft stations, government or naval vessels, navy yards, factories or workshops for the manufacture of munitions of war, etc., shall be effective as to German alien females. This date is fixed by the attorney general under authority granted to him in the president's proclamation of April 19, 1918.

The effect of the attorney general's act in fixing this date is to make it unlawful for any German alien female of fourteen years of age and upwards to be found within one-half mile of any of the places mentioned (except on public carriers) without a permit from the United States marshal. Persons in to reside in or to enter the prohibited area must be obtained, and applications for these must be made in the same manner as for similar permits in the case of German alien enemy males.

Suit producers have agreed with the United States food administration to pack their product in only a few standard sacks and when packed in wood the barrels where possible will be hooped with wood instead of steel. When packed in cotton, salt will hereafter be obtainable in only five, ten and twenty-five pound or larger sacks. Previously, a one-pound sack will contain 20 per cent more cotton than a five-pound sack. The new arrangement is expected to save large quantities of cotton and steel and reduce the drain on labor.

PRODUCTION OF DAIRY

Output of Five Breeds Given in Farmers' Bulletin.

Comparison Made of Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey—Holstein Is Given Largest Average.

The average production of five dairy breeds most generally known in the United States is shown in Farmers' Bulletin No. 893 of the department of agriculture.

For Ayrshire the average of the 8,598 cows that have completed yearly records for advanced registry is 9,555 pounds of milk testing 3.95 per cent of butterfat, amounting to 377.51 pounds of fat. The ten highest milk producers of this breed range from 25,329 to 18,745 pounds of milk and the average of these ten highest pro-

The ten highest butterfat producers range from 960.1 to 873.5 pounds, an average for these ten, of 943.1 pounds of butterfat.

USEFUL FOR WINTER MULCH

Leaves Are Not Only Serviceable When Placed About Plants, But Also Good for Litter.

Save the leaves. They are useful for winter mulch about garden plants, for covering earth in and, when piled and rotted down, make a good fertilizer for the garden. It is worth while to save them if possible.

PUT FARM IMPLEMENTS IN REPAIR IN WINTER

When housing the farm implements for winter make a list of repairs needed to put them in shape for efficient service next year. Order these repairs at once and have them on hand when needed. Such precaution may easily save days of delay next spring. Materials are so short that manufacturers will not carry more parts than seems absolutely necessary. An order placed now means that you will not be disappointed next spring.

Jones—Atwood

The marriage on Saturday evening in Appomattox of Miss Virgilia Atwood to Lieutenant Thomas West Jones, of Birmingham, Ala., was arranged to accentuate the military feature, the groom in full dress uniform, and every decoration carried out the color scheme of red, white and blue, supported by flags of the allies.

The maid of honor was Miss Lynolee Atwood, the bride's sister, and her mother, Mrs John R. Atwood, with whom she entered, gave her in marriage.

The groom was attended by his father, Harry Jones, of Birmingham. The ushers were John A Harvey, of Lynchburg; John S. Harvey, of Norfolk; Congressman Hal D Flood, and Elvin Schaefer, of Lynchburg.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. George Braxton Taylor, of Hollins College, assisted by Rev. Mr. McElroy, of Appomattox.

Miss Annie Blankenship, of Lynchburg, presided at the piano, playing the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" as a processional, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a recessional; "Love's Old, Sweet Song" during the ceremony, previous to which Mrs J. A Soars sang "I Love You Truly."

The out of town guests were: Mr and Mrs. Harry Jones, of Birmingham, father and mother of the groom; Mrs. Frank Palmer, of Norfolk; Mrs. Robert W Murrell, of Lynchburg; Mrs Clara Harvey and Miss Nellie Harvey, of Lynchburg; Mrs J. R Palmer, of Norfolk; Jake Spruegar, of Richmond; Edwin Adams, of Clarkton; Mrs. T. Gilbert Wood, of Roanoke.

David Grover Pugh

Died at his home near Wesley Chapel last Friday after several months of intense suffering which he bore with all the fortitude he could muster, David Grover Pugh.

He was one among the first who answered the call of his country and was sent to Camp Lee, but being in feeble health he could not stand the necessary exposure in training and he quickly succumbed to pneumonia, and tuberculosis developed and after five months in hospital was honorably discharged and returned home a physical wreck, having had a jawbone broken while having a tooth extracted.

There was no "taps" sounded and no special military honors to be conferred, but his life was sacrificed for his country

We extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Hoyle Baldwin

Mrs. Bessie Jamerson

Mrs Bessie Jamerson died at her home at Spout Spring several days ago and was buried near her home. Death was due to pneumonia, following influenza She was a kind and good woman and loved by all who knew her She leaves a husband and two small children to mourn her death.

The golden gates were opened wide,
A gentle voice said, Come,
And angels from the other side
Welcomed our loved one home.

Heaven now reclaims our treasure,
Earth no lower can it keep,
And the sunbeams bear to linger
"where our sainted Bessie sleeps.

Hay Seed Dry

Before putting away for the winter the vegetable seed that have been saved, be sure that they are thoroughly dry. Otherwise they may both rot or freeze. Also put them in either strong paper sacks or cloth sacks, and clearly label them, both with reference to kind and variety of seed.—The Progressive Farmer.

Argentina's Wealth in Furs.

There is no country in the world except Argentina which has 10 different kinds of fur-bearing animals, including the otter and the chinchilla. If there is no one in the country who can compete with the European houses in the manufacture of furs, the establishment of government fur markets, where exporters could learn the true value of their wares and receive a price commensurate with their real worth, would seem advisable.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors pronounced local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. F J Cheney & Co, Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy. It is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One hundred dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fail to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
